Thousands See Fireworks Show

Display Pleases Crowd

Plan Program For Next Year

An estimated 6,000 persons in Arlin field saw an elaborate fireworks display last night while other thousands watched the show from vantage points outside the stadium.

While the show was not a success financially, the sponsoring Mansfield Public Parks association believes it helped prevent accidents in the city area and plans to hold another celebration next year.

The paid attendance was approximately 4,500, F. D. Gillingham, president of the park association, said. He said revenue fell about $500 short of taking care of the expenses.

As the fireworks show got under way, at least 1,500 persons were permitted to enter the stadium and take seats without paying.

The fireworks display got "ohs" and "ahs" from the crowd and one colorful exhibit after another was spread across the heavens or over the bank at the east end of the stadium.

As the show opened an aerial bomb released a silk flag which floated to the earth under a parachute.

STAR SHOWERS

There were scores of aerial exhibits which showered red, blue, green and yellow stars and trailers over the stadium. Some of the displays included dozens of little comets that twisted through the sky.

Probably the highlight of the show was an exhibit near the close which depicted the bombing of Holland. A huge windmill surrounded by red tulips was outlined on the ground while bombs exploded rapidly over the setting.

Other ground pieces included the popular Niagara Falls, a pelican that ate a fish, a rose that turned from yellow to red, and a figure honoring the Mansfield Tygers in their home field.

The program that preceded the fireworks display reviewed the history and progress of Mansfield. Don Cram acted as the commentator. Ken Brague and his orchestra provided the background music.

Jay Shadel, of the parks association, entertained the crowd by calling two square dance numbers.

Mayor Roy W. Vaughn complimented the park association in resuming the fireworks show which had not been held since 1941. "I hope this celebration will be held again next year and every year, said Mayor Vaughn.

YOUTH SHOW

The program featured a display of Mansfield youth activities. Taking part in the display of the youth program were representatives of city playgrounds, three boy's baseball teams ranging from the midget to the national league all sponsored by the Hot Stove league.

The Lumbermens Insurance company girls' baseball team and badminton players represented the recreation program for older girls. The YMCA and YWCA also had recreational groups on hand.

The procession was led onto the field by a Marine corps color guard. When the entire group was on the field the lights were put out and spectators lighted matches as the orchestra played "God Bless America." The matches resembled thousands of fire flies in the darkness.

Move Angers Paratroopers

CLEVELAND —(INS)— The 82nd Airborne Division association was expected to demand clarification of the armed forces' stand on air-borne training at the closing session of its third annual convention today in Cleveland.

The resolution will probably criticize a recent army decision to remove the distinguishing patches and other elite troop privileges, including jump boots as "an example of how not to maintain this esprit."

The association will urge the development of a modern airborne striking force as a sound plan for national security.

Cars Banned, Tippler Uses Tractor

SARK, Channel Islands—(AP)—The island of Sark, where autos are banned by law, had its first drunken driving case in history today.

An outraged judge ordered the defendant's drinks cut off until Aug. 1, 1951.

The offender—John Terree—was accused of driving a tractor while intoxicated on two occasions last month.

The court directed the little island's saloonkeepers to put Terree on their blacklist for the next two years. He also was fined ten shillings ($2.)

Report Gives Hope Heat Break's Due

Scattered Rain Anticipated

Perspiring Mansfield today got a promise of slightly cooler weather in the next 24 hours.

Scattered showers in northern Ohio this afternoon and tonight are expected to lower the mercury a little. The heat is due to return Thursday and Friday, but cooler weather is in sight for Sunday.

Mansfield was comparatively "cool" yesterday with an official reading of 91 at the airport. Other cities in the state marked up new records for the year.

The downtown section of Mansfield was much warmer than the official reading indicated. Some thermometers showed readings 98 yesterday afternoon.

HEAT SETS RECORD

The mercury climbed to 98 in Cleveland, a record high for July 4, and also hit 98 in Toledo, tying that city's July 4 record. Cincinnati record 96.5 degrees and Columbus 96, both highs for the year in each city. Chesapeake had a 97-degree reading and both Youngstown and Findlay hit 96.

Forecasters said it will be somewhat cooler in the northern part of the state today because of an onshore breeze off Lake Erie.

It was so hot near Ashland late yesterday that a section of State Route 89 blew up. A hole 12 feet in diameter was blown in the road about 5 p. m. State highway workers, who attributed the explosion to the heat, detoured traffic around the damaged spot.

Couple Chain Aged Woman To Bedpost

NEWPORT, Ky. — (INS) — Donald Thomas, 41, and his wife, Essie, 44, were held today by Newport police for chaining Thomas' 83-year-old aunt, Miss Anna Whitaker, to a bedpost.

A crowd of some 300 persons gathered outside the Thomas home last night after nieghbors heard the former school teacher crying for water. She had been chained through the hottest day of the year. The Thomases did not return home from a holiday outing until around 9 p. m. when they were greeted by police and the angry mob.

Assault and battery charges were filed by another nephew of the aged woman, Benjamin Daniel.

The Thomases told police they had left food and water with the former teacher when they chained her to the bed. They said they were forced to take such steps because she would break up their furniture if left alone.

Resume Dodds Trial After Brief Recess

ATHENS — (UP) — The first degree murder trial of Harry Dodds, 20, charged with taking part in the fatal beating of a middleaged Episcopal church worker, was resumed here today.

The trial was recessed over the July 4th weekend after selection of a jury of nine men and three women and opening statements by prosecution and defense attorneys. The New Straitsville youth is charged with the slaying of Miss Eleanor Gifford, 52, last Jan. 3.

Sudden Storm Kills 7

Twenty Boats Still Missing

NEW YORK—(AP)—At least seven persons were dead and an estimated 20 small boats missing in the wake of a violent wind and rain squall that cut through the parched New York metropolis area yesterday.

A similar sudden squall in the Boston area overturned boats and caused the drowning of a month-old baby girl.

The coast guard estimated that 20 small boats still are missing in the metropolitan area. A spokesman said, however, there was no immediate indications that the death toll would rise.

Hundreds of pleasure boats were overturned by the 50 and 60-mile winds which swept the New York and New Jersey coasts Air traffic was halted 10 minutes at New York's La Guardia field because of a dust storm.

PLANES SEEK VICTIMS

Coast guard planes and boats searched for victims of the sudden squall off Long Island Sound.

Prior to the sudden squalls, the coastal area had been sweltering in 97-degree temperatures. The storm sent the mercury tumbling down to a comparatively cool 84.

Meanwhile, a scorching 43-day drought apparently has killed or spoiled more than $50,000,000 worth of crops in the farmlands of eight northeastern states.

Moreover, farm experts warn, the damage in the area's rich fruit, vegetable and diary regions will reach a vastly higher figure if rains do not come.

The parched drought region stretches from southern New Jersey's truck crop areas up through the dairies and farms of New York state, and then fans out over almost the whole of southern New England.

Wall Falls, Four Killed

Bricks, Signs Shower Down

PITTSBURGH — (AP) — The top of a building's wall thundered down on a group of pedestrians out for a stroll on the city's northside Federal street last night.

The barrage of bricks, mortar and heavy neon signs killed four and injured eight.

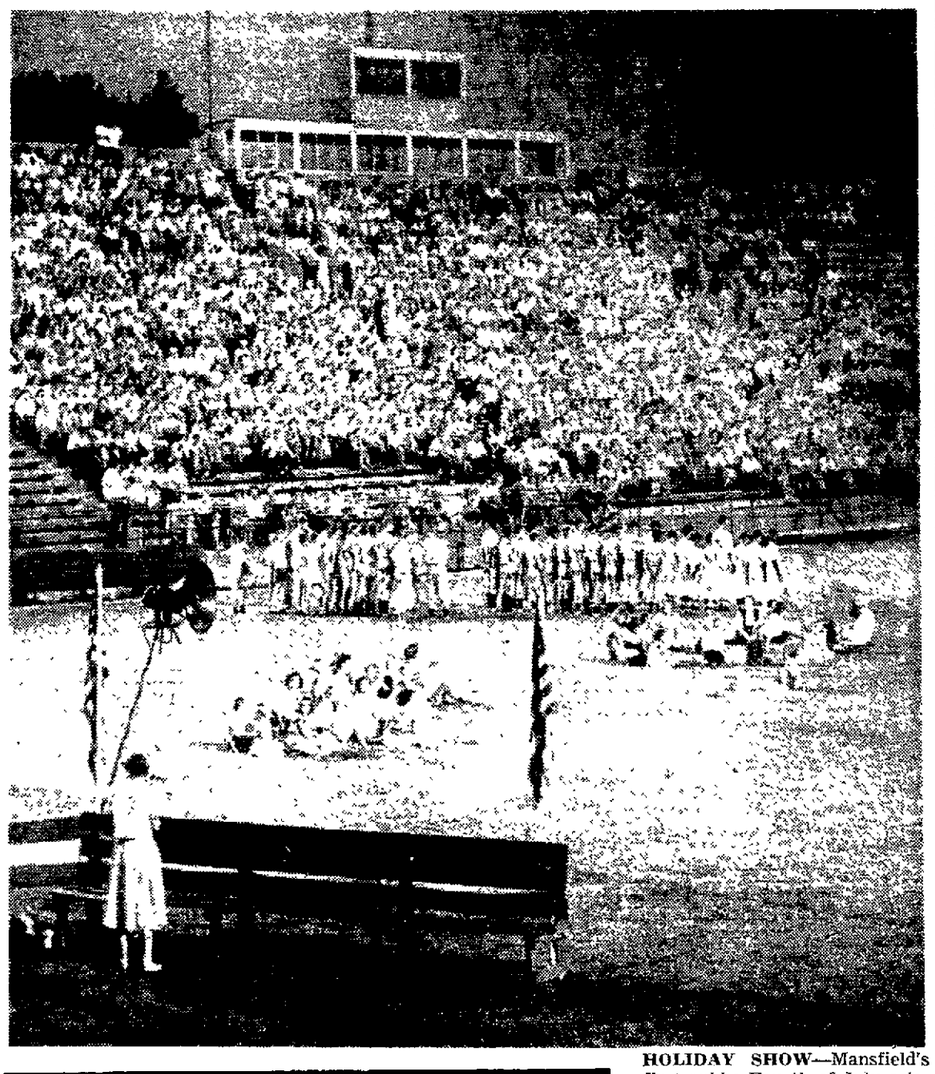

Four of the injured were listed as "critical."

"It was a terrifying thing," said Joe Deveny, 32, who suffered a compound fractured leg. "I looked up and saw those two big signs coming at me. Then the whole building seemed to come down."

The dead were T. J. McGee, 60, Charles Schmidt, 29, Donald Hanlon, 22, and Mrs. Viola Dickson, 39.

Critically hurt were John McDonouch, 27, broken back; Rose Grandee, 22, fractured pelvis, leg and hip; Forest McCallister, 40, fractured skull; and David Stevens, 9, arm and leg fractures.

Assistant Fire Chief Michael McDermott said the weight of neon signs advertising two cafes housed in the one-story building apparently caused the brick parapet to give way.

Faces Possible Death Sentence

'Tokyo Rose' Treason Trial Starts Today

SAN FRANCISCO —(INS)— Mrs. Iva Toguri D'Aquino, a former California co-ed who became the "Tokyo Rose" of the Pacific war, goes on trial for treason today in San Francisco.

The Los Angeles-born woman who marked her 33rd birthday on the Fourth of July, is charged with treason for having broadcast over radio Tokyo to beguile lonely GI's with honeyed phrases.

The young Nisei faces the possibility of a death sentence if convicted

But Mrs. D'Aquino insists she is innocent of deliberately attempting to propagandize American soldiers.

The former coed of the University of California at Los Angeles, will appear before Federal District Judge Michael J. Roche to be tried on the treason indictment.

Observers are comparing the trial, expected to last six weeks, to the recent case of Miss Mildred "Axis Sally" Gillars in Washington, D. C. Miss Gillars, convicted of making wartime nazi broadcasts, was sentenced to from 10 to 30 years' imprisonment and fined $10,000.

Mrs. D'Aquino, wife of a Portuguese national of part Japanese ancestry, was brought to the United States from Tokyo to face trial. A federal grand jury indictment accuses her of having given "aid and comfort" to Japan during World War II.

It is specifically charged that her radio Tokyo broadcasts were meant to undermind morale.

Start Wheat Harvesting

'Best In 5 Years,' Millers Report

"This is the best wheat crop in five years," Lantz mill officials said today as farmers began marketing their grain. First in was Henry Enderlee, U.S. Route 30, near East Mansfield.

Most of the county's binder cutting is done and combining is underway in parts of the county. The combining began two weeks earlier than usual.

The moisture test of the wheat sold at the Lantz mill is averaging about 13 per cent and the wheat tests 58 pounds, which is better than last year, millers said.

County Agent C N. McGrew said the good crop could probably be attributed to better farming practices, the mild winter which kept the wheat from "heaving," and the rains at the proper times this spring which gave the wheat the proper "fill."

OCEAN CAPTAIN DIES

YONKERS, N Y — (AP) — Capt. George Fried, 71, master of some of America's biggest ocean liners, died yesterday.

Mishaps Fatal To 3 In Area

A heart attack, suffered while swimming in Long Lake yesterday, caused the death of 79-year-old James A. Miller of Lakeville, R. D. 1. Millet was the third person to lose his life in Fourth of July holiday deaths in the Mansfield area.

Other victims of the holiday included Claude Conley, 39, and Daniel Terry, 36, both of Garrett, Ky. Both died as a result of a two-car collision near Willard early Saturday. Conley died shortly after the accident. Terry succumbed Saturday night at Willard hospital of a broken back and head injuries. Both bodies have been shipped to Garrett for services and burial.

Miller's body was found an hour after he had gone into the lake Monday morning. A native of Missouri, Mr. Miller had spent most of his life north of Ashland near Ruggles. He moved to Lakeville 10 years ago to make his home with a son, Robert S. Miller.

Other survivors include three daughters, Mrs. Ruby Singer of Ashland, Mrs. Muriel Whitmore of Wooster, and Mrs. D. C. Pickett of Brooklyn, N. Y.; five sons, Thurston of Medina; Russell of Springfield; Donald of Lodi; T. R. and Miles, both of Lanark, Ill.; 23 grandchildren and eight grandchildren.

Services will be held at 2 p. m. Thursday from the Banks funeral home in Loudonville. Rev. S. P. Ozmun, pastor of the Loudonville Methodist church, will officiate. Friends may call at the funeral home after 6 p. m. today.

There were no traffic fatalities on Richland county highways.

State highway patrolmen said nine persons were injured in a total of 12 accidents since July 1. None were injured seriously.

No one was injured in any of the eight traffic accidents in the city during the long week end, although two Mansfielders were arrested for leaving the scene of an accident. Both were apprehended by officers early today, and released on $500 bond for appearance in municipal court tomorrow.

Charles B. Higgins, 21, of 605 Pennsylvania avenue, one of the two men charged, pleaded guilty to the charge but the hearing was continued pending notification of the complainant, James Arnett, Mansfield, R. D. 3.

Police said a car driven by Higgins struck the Arnett car while it was parked in front of 196 North Mulberry street at 5:15 p. m. Sunday. Higgins was arrested at 3:43 a. m. today.

Ira B. Heaton, 39, employed at People's hospital, and also charged with leaving the scene of an accident, entered a plea of innocent before Municipal Judge H. H. Schettler today. The case was continued to tomorrow at 9:30 a. m.

Youth Hurt In Pool Dive

Richard Sines, 11, son of Mrs. Lula Sines, of 24 Walnut street in Shelby, suffered head injuries yesterday when he dived into Seltzer park pool there. Richard walked home but Dr. J. A. Ellery was summoned when a nose bleed developed.

The boy was admitted to Memorial hospital at 8:15 p. m. and discharged at 11 a. m. today after x-rays had been taken to determine the extent of his injuries. Dr. Ellery ordered Richard to be quiet for three weeks pending study of the x-rays, as a basal fracture is suspected.

Lush Corn Crop Seen For State

COLUMBUS —(INS)— Every sign pointed to a lush corn crop for Ohio at the passing of Independence Day.

The crop has gone the traditional "knee high by the Fourth of July" considerably better. Corn in Ohio's western district was waist high and in some spots even up to a man's head.

G R. Eastwood, supervisor of the western district under the Agricultural Extension service of Ohio State university, claims that "the prospects are excellent for a good crop."

737 Die Observing Holiday

30 Killed In Ohio

(Compiled from Wire Dispatches)

The nation's observance of the Fourth of July and efforts to escape the worst heat wave of the year cost 737 lives in the heaviest holiday carnage in history, a survey showed today.

"This is a national disgrace," National Safety Council spokesman said. "Something must be done."

Ohio ranked well below the leaders in the number of holiday fatalities although the state counted 30 dead for the three-day period. There were 15 drownings in the state, outnumbering traffic deaths which reached a total of 13. In addition, falls accounted for two deaths, one from a roller coaster and one from a combine.

Largest factor in the record national death toll was the searing heat which drove millions to beaches and lakes. Strangely, there were more heat deaths in northern states than in the south.

307 TRAFFIC DEATHS

A tabulation of the national toll showed that from 6 p. m. Friday to midnight last night:

307 died on the highways.
245 drowned.
47 died from heat prostration.
17 died in airplane accidents.
121 died violently in miscellaneous accidents.

In addition, on the basis of safety statistics, an estimated 10,000 persons were injured on the highways, and uncounted thousands of others were injured by fireworks and in other accidents.

The safety council said that the previous record was set in 1941 when nearly 700 persons died violently.

During the past week-end New York led all states with a total of 63 deaths, including 15 on the highways and 25 by drowning.

The leading states in the week-end toll in addition to New York included:

Michigan, 51 deaths including 11 traffic and 26 drownings; Texas, 51 deaths, including 31 traffic and nine drownings; Pennsylvania, 41 deaths, including 13 traffic and seven drownings; California, 36 deaths, including 23 traffic and four drownings; Indiana, 35 deaths including 18 traffic and nine drownings.

Pact Debate Under Way

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Senate today opened debate on the North Atlantic pact with apparently less than a dozen members opposing the 12 - nation mutual defense treaty.

Senators Connally (D - Tex) and Vandenberg (R - Mich) led the forces seeking the two-thirds votes needed for ratification.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio), however, told a reporter he expects to discuss the related European arms program when he speaks later this week in favor of the pact. Taft is against the proposed $1,450,000,000 arms outlay.

The Sentate alone acts on the pact. Both houses must pass on the arms proposal.

The arms program already is under fire from economy advocates. Senator Byrd (D-Va) says he is going to oppose it because he doesn't believe this country can afford to put that amount of money into military supplies on top of the economic aid it is giving Europe.

Barber Tries New Con Game

NEW YORK — A barber accused of clipping out-of-town business men of small sums after combing their names from files in the public library was held by police today.

Frank Colasanti, 37, the barber, was arrested outside a telegraph office yesterday on a vagrancy charge.

Detectives said Colasanti found the names of his victimes in business guides and other books at the library.

He then put in collect long distance calls to the men, police said, told them he was stranded needed money, and convinced them he knew them because of details which he could supply about their businesses.

Bombing Remains Mystery After Year's Time

Just one year ago today, downtown Mansfield was rocked by a bombing which injured four public servants of the community.

Today, the Crescent cafe bombing, 22 South Park street, remains unsolved.

Police Chief Jesse J. Schwab told the News-Journal today: "The case is still open and we're continuing the investigation."

However, there have been no arrests in the bombing in the year's time.

The bomb, which shattered the back door of the cafe, injured Patrolmen William D. Mitchell and John P. Butler, and Firemen James Peck and Roy Reeder. The men had attempted to place the bomb in a tub of water to reduce its explosive power

Despite official denials, rumors persisted at the time of the bombing that the motive was rivalry for control of the lucrative punchboard distribution business.

Hugo Walter, 23 East Second street, eye - witness to the planting of the bomb, told police he saw a man walk to the rear of the cafe between 1 and 1:30 a. m. Walter said the man placed something at the back door and then touched his cigaret lighter to the package. The man then ran through a narrow passageway to Second street, indicating familiarity with the surroundings. Walter said he was unable to get a description of the bomb-bearer because of the darkness.

His suspicions aroused, Walter called police. Firemen also answered the call.

Indications that the bomb may have been home-made were given by arson experts of the state fire marshal's office, who called the bomb "amateurish in appearance."

R. J. Matthes, owner of the cafe, said he believed the bomb planter "got the wrong address." Prosecutor Theadore Lutz and Chief Schwab said, however, that possibility was virtually ruled out.

Actor-Producer Fills In Slack Months By Chauffeuring Taxicab

Richard Poston is an actor and producer. He will supervise some of the shows for the summer stock troupe at Cape May, N. J. While waiting for the season to start Poston is a cab driver—his beat being the vicinity of Sardi's, where many of the fares are the actors he has cast in his productions.

The Museum of Modern Art (on 54th street) revived an old silent picture, "The Big Parade." The producer and all the stars have passed on. Irving Thalberg, John Gilbert, Renee Adoree, Karl Dane, Tom O'Brien.

Mr. Whiskers attached the properties of "Along Fifth Avenue," the flop, in lieu of unpaid Federal taxes. Some friends of a man(whose son got stage struck) lost $275,000 backing this show. And you work for a living.

Margaret Sullavan turned down $5,000 per week in Summer stock (against 50 per cent of the gross) for ten weeks because her tax accountants warned her she "couldn't keep one cent of it!" Her big income comes from Columbia's next film in which she stars.

Millicent Scott is being acclaimed along Tin Pan Alley for her record of "Again." One of the best groovings of that chune, and she never made a disc in her life. The nice thing about it is that Miss Scott has been waiting for such a break for the last ten years—while operating the switchboard at the Southern Music Co. on Broadway.

Heatwave, repression or both—it never matters if your show is good. The hits are still selling out, and you cannot be sure of getting a table at the Copa or Riviera.

The autograph fans are not easy to escape from—ask F. Sinatra. They take cabs when the stars do and follow. If the celeb pauses to be friendly—what happens? They stand there in groups and titter. . .The Stork's new upstairs additions will feature pretty Chinese hatchicks. . "Samson and Delilah" is the firs film since "Gone with the Wind" that promises to gross more than that record grosser. Con-Man Gets Conned As Boss Leaves Estate To His Widow

JIMMY NEVER CAN FORGET how old man Jaspers conned him.

He told me about it as we sat in his new apartment with his latest wife, Rosabelle.

"I went to work for him during the war," said Jimmy. "He owned a big independent soft drink business—cherry, grape, lemon, ginger ale—anything that fizzed. And he shipped to five states."

"How did Mr. Jaspers ever get such a big business, honey?" Asked his wife.

"I told you a dozen times!" said Jimmy. "He got it the same way you got me—he stole it! Go mix us a drink."

Rosabelle tripped out to the kitchen, looking pleased at this version of their marriage.

"Well, anyway," said her husband, "good men were hard to get about then, and it didn't take this old joker long to see I knew my way around. So he made me his general manager.

"Then he began having these strokes. They didn't make him goofy. They just kept him in bed. But every day I had to go out to his house after work and tell him what was doing at the plant."

"What kind of a man was this Jaspers, Jimmy?"

"Crazy about money. His first wife divorced him after she caught him snuggling with her maid.

"And then when his ex - wife fell in love and married another guy with less money, it made old Jaspers mad. Just to spite her he built a $100,000 house over in New Jersey — stingy as he was — and up and married the maid. But it didn't bother his first wife. By then she didn't care if Jasper ate $1000 bills for breakfast. She was happy."

Rosabelle came in with the drinks.

"What put me in solid with the old geezer," Jimmy went on, "was the way I could scrounge sugar on the black market. We could sell all the pop we could make. The trouble was in getting the sugar and I found how to get plenty.

"He had no way to check up on me, and for a time I was considering going into business for myself — using his plant. I could've cut a few of the boys in, and we could've run off a thousand or so cases extra at night and sold them ourselves. But my wife was against it."

"Yes," Rosabelle said, looking at him fondly. "It was dishonest — and you might have been caught."

"About this time I got a better offer," said Jimmy. "I went to the old man, and he told me, 'Stick to me, my boy. I'll take care of you. The business is going to belong to you and a few oldtimers at the plant when I'm gone.'

"Naturally, I stuck. Every day I'd go out and the first thing he'd ask was, 'How many cases today?' I'd tell him, and he'd smile and say, 'You'll never regret you stuck by me.'"

"Tell him how old Jaspers died," prodded Rosabelle.

"He got a big stroke one morning. He was real weak when I came to see him. He smiled when I told him business was fine. Then he held my hand and whispered, 'Don't leave me, Jimmy. I'll take care of you well.'

"That night he died. When his will was filed, I rushed out to the courthouse. Well, there were a lot of pages in the will — but the name 'Jimmy' wasn't on any of them."

"No," said Rosabelle, "the old skinflint left everything to the maid and their two children. And that was the first time his neighbors knew he had re - married. He'd told everybody his wife was just the housekeeper and the children were adopted."

Jimmy looked a little smug.

"You know a man has to take care of himself," he said. "There weren't any invoices on that black market sugar, and I managed to make myself enought to furnish this place and put $5,000 in the bank. But what gets me is the way old Jaspers conned me — he conned me with his dying breath."

"Yes," said Rosabelle, "the things some people will do for money!"

Tests Wheat For Moisture

With wheat combining ready to begin this week in most of Richland county, the county Farm Bureau today offered free wheat testing service to farmers at its five branches.

About a quart of grain is necessary for the test to show whether the wheat is too wet to harvest, Farm Bureau spokesmen said. Wheat should test 14 per cent or less moisture to be safe to harvest, they said.

The tests will be made in Mansfield, Shelby, Shiloh, Bellville, and Lexington.

Air Guard Prepares For 1st Encampment

The 164th Air National Guard squadron based at municipal airport leaves for its first annual encampment this week. More than 300 area officers and airmen will make the trip to Dover Airforce Base at Dover, Del., by Saturday.

Tonight two railroad flatcars and a box car with squadron equipment will leave Mansfield. On Friday all of the squadron's motorized vehicles will depart in convoy.

The bulk of personnel will pull out of the Pennsylvania railroad station on an eastbound sleeper at 12 midnight Friday.

An air armada of 23 planes, including 19 fighters, two AT-6 trainers and a C-47 transport, will wing out of municipal airport Saturday. Two C-46 transports will come to Mansfield Saturday also to pick up the ground echelons of mechanics and technicians.

The squadron will participate in a complete training program at Dover. Airmen from Ohio, West Virginia and Kentucky will practice aerial gunnery, including air-to-air gunnery and air-to-ground gunnery.

The 164th will go on simulated tactical missions and take part in an operational readiness test in hypothetical defense of the eastern coastline from invaders.

All sections of the squadron, air, communications, maintenance and supply and others will receive intensive training in the war games which will last from July 9 to 23.

"The squadron will get a chance to do the job it has been training for all year," Capt. William O. Ash, commanding officer, said this morning.

Still Probe 'Raid' Case

No charges have yet been filed against the nine persons arrested in a surprise raid at 34½ West Fourth street shortly before 8 p. m. Saturday.

County Prosecutor Harold Lutz's office said this morning that the investigation is still being held and that no charges would be filed until it was complete.

Police report that the nine, one a 13-year-old girl, are still being held in city jail. None has been let out on bond.

Two of the girls were from Mansfield, while one was from Greenwich and another from Akron.

The five men arrested range in age from 19 to 27. They all gave their addresses as 34½ West Fourth street.

The group were taken to police headquarters Saturday after neighbors complained of cursing and "wild parties" in the apartment. The nine have retained the law firm of Beam and Beam to represent them in the event charges are filed.

Defense Prepares To Act

Will Summon More Witnesses

NEW YORK —(INS)—The government announced at 11:28 a. m. today that it has "concluded its case" in the Alger Hiss perjury trial.

It was the 24th day of the trial, which is now in its sixth week. The government had called 43 witnesses, 33 on direct examination and 10 on rebuttal.

Immediately after the prosecution wound up its case, the defense announced it would have several rebuttal witnesses.

The defense had called 27 witnesses on direct examination.

A total of 70 witnesses for both sides had taken the stand up to noon today.

An hour and ten minute conference in the chambers of Judge Samuel H. Kaufman preceded today's courtroom proceedings.

The jury was not brought in until 11:20 a. m.

Prosecutor Thomas F. Murphy then inquired of Judge Kaufman if he would reconsider his ruling not to allow Mrs. Hede Massing, former wife of the bail-jumping communist Gerhardt Eisler, to testify as a government rebuttal witness.

The judge refused to reconsider his ruling.

Judge Kaufman also refused to allow William Rosen of Washington, D. C., to take the stand as a rebuttal witness.

KEPT SILENCE

Rosen was sentenced to six months in jail by a federal judge last year for refusing to relate the details of his purchase of the 1929 Ford car which Hiss concedes he gave ex-communist Whittaker Chambers. Rosen was later freed on an appeal.

Indications are that the federal court jury of ten men and two women will get the case by Friday. The defense will call "a few" witnesses in surrebuttal tomorrow, and closing arguments will be completed Thursday or Friday.

The lean, handsome former high state department official faces a five - year prison term and $2,000 fine on each of two counts of the perjury indictment, if convicted.

New Party Established

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Members of the nation's Townsend clubs established a new political party yesterday.

Delegates, dissatisfied with both Democrats and Republicans adopted the idea unanimously.

The idea was presented to the ninth national convention of Townsend clubs by the 82-year-old founder of the pension movement, Dr. Francis E. Townsend.

Since 1933, Townsendites have been trying to get Congress to adopt their plan. They believe in paymet of a pension of about $156 a month to every person, 60 years or older, who would apply for it.

The pensions would be financed by a three per cent gross income tax on all business and on all wages in excess to $250 a month. Recipients whould have to spend their pensions each month in order to continue to be eligible.

The Townsend movement claims 5,000,000 members. It holds their plan would be insurance against another depression.

The convention resolution said Congress did not seem competent to determine the cause or cure of depressions.

Admission Age To Scouting Will Be Lowered Sept. 1

Age of admission to Cub Scouts will be lowered from nine to eight, Boy Scouts from 12 to 11, and Senior Scouts from 15 to 14 years of age, on Sept. 1, 1949. Carl Bachmann, field Scout executive of the Johnny Appleseed area county, has announced.

Cub Scouts who are eight years old may earn the Wolf rank, 10-year-olds the Bear rank, ten-year-olds the Lion, and in the last half of the tenth year, the Webelos rank.

Present Cub Scouts will be permitted to complete their Wolf and Bear ranks in their ninth year, or their Bear, Lion and Webelos in their tenth year.

Under the new plan, boys graduate from Cub scouting on their eleventh birthday and are eligible to join a Boy Scout troop. Cub Scouts who are now eleven years of age will be given ample time to complete their Lion rank and may receive their Webelos rank in the troop if they wish to do so.

A new Senior Scout program to be known as Exploring, will also go into effect in September. This will replace the present Senior Scout program. All young men fourteen years or over in the Boy Scouts, whether in troops or specialized units, will be known as Explorers, and their program will be broad enough in its scope to include land, sea and air activities as well as life exploration. Those units which specialize in seamanship or in aviation will be registered as Explorer ships or Explorer squadrons. Explorers may remain with their troop as an Explorer crew and carry on the Explorer program with all of its phases.

The change of age limit admission provides opportunity to increase the number of boys served by Cub scouting. Boy scouting and Exploring. This increased number of boys going into the scouting program will require an increased number of men as volunteer leaders. Men interested in serving are requested to contact Floyd Dent, area Scout executive, at 60 North Mulberry street.

A Boy Scout National Jamboree is to be held at historic Valley Forge, near Philadelphia, in 1950. This is to be the greatest mobilization of boys ever held in America on a national basis.

Tribe Boss Clouts Four Base Blows

DETROIT —(AP)—Whatever happened to Lou Boudreau's plan to bench himself?

Less than a week ago, the Indian's manager was watching the game from the dugout with a sickly .232 batting average. Then Kenny Keltner hurt his leg and Lou had to play third base.

Looking at his record today for those last seven games Boudreau has hit .500—13 hits in 26 times at bat—and has inflated his batting average 36 points to .268.

The Tribe manager gave further evidence yesterday that as he goes so, too, go the Indians. He had two hits for three in both games, and Cleveland won them both, 3 to 2 and 7 to 3.

And it was his triple that drove Hal Newhouser from the box in that second game, the same Newhouser who tamed the Indians three times this year.

The Detroit star appeared to be ready to mark down number four over his favorite team until the eighth inning.

In that one, with one out Lary Doby lined a double to left. Then Joe Gordon hit one to left, and Hoot Evers made a running catch for out number two.

Then came Boudreau's triple off the screen in left center, scoring Doby from second and tying the score at 3-3.

DOBY HITS OPEN

In the ninth, Dale Mitchell tripled off Freddie Hutchinson to score Sam Zoldak from first. Ray Boone singled Mitchell home and Larry Doby hit his 12th homer of the season for two more runs.

Gene Bearden started the second game allowed Detroit two runs in the third inning. Sam Zoldak was the winning pitcher, Hutchinson the loser.

Bob Feller won that first one, and Mitchell was the big offensive power then, too.

Art Houtteman was working on a 2-0 margin until the eighth inning. Then Mitchell's triple to the stands in left center scored pitchhitters Thurman Tucker and Hal Peck.

Feller was credited with his fifth victory against six defeats and his fourth win a row. And for the third time in two days, Satchell Paige did a relief job.

It was a pretty good one, too: he retired six men in order in the eighth and ninth innings.

In the averages, third place Cleveland didn't move a point nearer the New York Yankees, who won a doubleheader from Boston.

Tonight, the Tribe winds up the three-game series with the Tigers. Frank Papish is likely to pitch for Cleveland with Marvin Grissom the Detroit hurler.

Baseball Crowds Stay Up, Racing Fans Stay Away

NEW YORK —(UP)— The loyalty of baseball fans remained a review of the holiday attendance figures, but the same couldn't be said for turf fans.

Seven major league doubleheaders, plus a morning and afternoon twin bill at Brooklyn, drew 256,779 persons yesterday. The American league drew 138,361, while the National league pointed to 118,418 followers. The total figure represented only a drop of 13,135 over last year's independence day attendance.

However, it was a different story at the nation's horse parks. A total of 244,064 railbirds were in evidence at 13 race tracks yesterday as compared with last year's figures of 278,971 fans at only 10 tracks.

The total mutuel handle at tracks this year showed even a larger slackening off — $11,731,687 — as compared to last year's $14,063,246.

Don Hardy Hurls Win For Autos

Don Hardy pitched his first victory of the season for Penn Auto-Sporting Goods yesterday, beating the Tiffin Mud Hens, 6-2, at Blue Goose park.

Hardy scattered seven Tiffin hits and had a shutout going into the fifth inning. The Autos led 4-0 at the time and were never in danger.

Penn opened the scoring with a single run in the first on a walk to Dick Poth and singles by Red Hamman and Jack Hammett. In the fourth, the Autos clinched the game when three walks and Wilbur Wade's double plated three runs.

Jack Hammett led the team at bat with a double and two singles in three trips. Dick Ernsberger made his debut at third base and committed two errors while going hitless in four trips.

Sunday night, Penn lost a 2-0 decision at New London although Lou Gregorio turned in a fine mound performance. Gregorio gave up six hits but Thorne Cassell limited Penn to four hits and won the game himself with a home run with Kenny Funk on base in the sixth inning.

The state championship Penn team has now won seven and lost six.

Gene Yohn Knocks Off Marion, 11-6

MARION — Gene Yohn kept 16 Marion hits well scattered here last night as he pitched Mansfield's American Legion juniors to an 11-6 victory.

Mansfield got only nine bingles but was ahead all the way as it led 9-0 before Marion scored. Five runs in the second inning put the Mansfielders ahead to stay.

GET FIVE RUNS

Ed Chelski opened the frame by flying out but Ken McCally and Russ Glenn got on by errors and Bob Hartnett was hit by a pitched ball. Yohn then squeezed McCally home with the first run, but was thrown out at first. After Jim Reiner walked to reload the bases, Jakie Schmidt singled in two runs. Reiner scored on a passed ball and Norm Hughes squeezed in the fifth tally.

Four more runs came in the fourth inning on three hits, two errors and a passed ball.

It was Yohn's second victory of the season over Marion. The Legion nine now has won six games and lost four. Hughes led both teams at the plate with three singles.

Boston Red Sox Keep Skidding In Flag Chase

Yankees, Athletics Each Win 2 Games

By STAN OPOTOWSKY

NEW YORK— (UP)— As the red, white and blue bunting came down today after the holiday hoopla, it was time to hang black crepe—black, black crepe—on the pennant chances of the Boston Red Sox.

The double drubbing absorbed by the hapless Sox at the hands of the New York Yankees yesterday seemed the clincher in the demise of this once proud and defiant contender. The losses, by scores of 3 to 2 and 6 to 4, were the seventh and eighth in a row, and burrowed Boston 12 games out of first place. The worst the team placed last season was 11½ games back, and then on June 1 when there was much more time to recuperate.

But even more significant than the statistics was the sloppy and even bonehead appearance of the Red Sox.

Take the first game, for example. Boston there failed to score in the ninth on a hit with the bases loaded and one out.

Johnny Pesky was on third at the time. Al Zarilla lined one to right field, an obvious hit and the fans roared. But Pesky must have thought Cliff Mapes was going to catch the ball, for he went back and tagged third before starting for home. Bobby Doerr next flied out and the Yanks won the game.

But the Red Sox genius in reverse did not stop there It carried into the second game The Bostons looked good when a three run rally in the third tied the score at 3-3 and a marker in the fourth gave them a 4-3 lead But Joe Di Maggio, hitless until then, homered in the bottom half to tie the count and Boston reverted to form

In the seventh Phil Rizzuto singled for the Yanks and held first when Hank Bauer popped up Then the Sox pulled the magnificent strategy of walking Di Maggio, putting the potentially winning run on second base Both Di Mag and Rizzuto advanced on lefty Mel Parnell's wild pitching, and Bill Johnson rapped them in with a single for the ball game.

Vic Raschi won his 13th of the season in the opener for the Yanks.

A'S TAKE PAIR

The Philadelphia Athletics remained four and a half games behind the leading Yanks by sweeping both ends of a doubleheader from Washington, 9 to 7, and 8 to 0. A six-run rally in the seventh won the opener, while Sam Chapman's two home runs highlighted the night-cap. Chapman's first four-bagger of the day was with bases full

Dale Mitchell was the big gun in Cleveland's twin triumphs over the Detroit Tigers, 3 to 2 and 7 to 3 He tripled home the winning run in the second game and wound up with a total of five RBI's for the afternoon

The Browns and the White Sox split, Chicago taking the opener, 12 to 5, and St Louis the second, 4 to 2.

Brooklyn's National league leaders made their advantage two full games by beating the Phillies twice, 7 to 1 and 8 to 4, while the chasing St Louis Cardinals split a twin-bill with the Cubs The Cards lost the opener, 9 to 4, and then won, 5 to 0 Preacher Roe won his seventh of the season in the first game for the Dodgers, and Don Newcombe his sixth in the nightcap Newcombe singled thrice in three tries but needed pitching relief from Jack Banta in the eighth.

The Boston Braves came from behind with four runs in the ninth to nip the Giants, 8 to 7, in the second game after losing the opener, 11 to 4 Southpaws Cliff Chambers and Bill Wertte Chambers and Bill Werte pitched Pittsburgh to 2 to 1 and 1 to 0 wins over the Reds

Veteran Leads British Links Meet With 67

SANDWICH — (UP) — A field of 225 set out in chase of veteran Harry Bradshaw today in the second round of the British open golf tournament but by dusk only 100 will remain in he running

The rest will be eliminated for the next two 18-hold rounds to be played tomorrow and Thursday The field then will be cut again to some 40 for the 36-hold finale on Friday.

Bradshaw, five times Irish champion, came in late yesterday with a 67 to grab the first round lead. No one had paid much attention to him as he teed off, and most of the fans were hailing a trio bracketed at 69 as the first round leaders when Bradshaw came in.

The trio, consisting of Phoenix' Johnny Bulla, Bobby Locke of South Africa and Ken Blousfield of England still was in hot contention as the second round was launched today Bulla actually played near perfect golf yesterday except that he three-putted the 11th hole

Frank Stranahan of Toledo O, former British amateur champ, also was very much in the fight although he was tied with nine others at 71 after yesterday's first round Stranahan ran into trouble finding the sun-scorched green, overshooting the 17th and then missing the 18th.

Willie Hunter of Riviera, Cal, the veteran linksman who won the British amateur 28 years ago, shot a 73 yesterday.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Growing Population Provides Big Problem For Little Italy

ROME — (AP) — Italy is like a fond mother with a huge family she cannot support but dreads to see leave home. Population is Italy's biggest problem.

Italy's population is increasing a half million yearly. She has two million unemployed. A quarter million new workers are seeking jobs each year. That means 3,000,000 job hunters by the 1951-52 deadline for recovery under the European Recovery program (ERP). The Economic Cooperation administration (ECA) hopes to open up 1,150,000 new jobs.

Without emigration, Italy would remain still crippled by almost two million workless. These, with their families, have to be fed, clothed and housed at the expense of the national economy. Italy can never be economically, or politically, healthy under such conditions. So large a population of the aimless idle is a standing invitation to political unrest.

Only the communists and their allies in Italy maintain that emigration is not the key to Italy's economic future. They say that in a thoroughly socialized state industry and agriculture could be enlivened enough to employ all Italians ECA and non-communist Italian economists say this argument is killed by Italy's experience under fascism.

Modern Italy has never known a period without mass unemployment except during the days of mass emigration before World War I.

Italian diplomats abroad have standing instructions to investigate every possibility of emigration in every country of the world.

ECA is building 260,000 tons of shipping to help overcome the shipping bottleneck that keeps would-be emigrants home. ECA also is financing a vocational training program in Italy to get around the obstacle that almost all countries taking emigrants want skilled laborers.

Man Killed By Hit-Skip Plane

WADLEY, ALA. — (AP) — A light plane swooped from the sky and killed a man driving a mule - drawn wagon on a highway here. Chambers county Sheriff Jim Abney described the case as an "air hit and run."

Four airforce men from Shaw field at Columbia, S. C., were arrested when they landed their plane at Alexander City airport, 25 miles from Wadley, Abney reported. Abney quoted the men as saying they thought they were running low on gasoline and were seeking a place to land when the man was hit.

Report Ten Mild Cases of Polio

TOLEDO —(INS)— The number of polio patients confined to the contagion unit of Maumee Valley hospital in Toledo stood at 10 today, although none of the cases are serious.

Dr. Walter Hartung, Toledo health commissioner, said that although there are more polio patients now than at this time last year, there is little chance of an epicemic since all the cases are mild.

Ohio Assembly Sees First Sign of Possible Adjournment

Legislators Start Work On Budget

Back On Job After Holiday

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Ohio's legislators return to the capitol this afternoon to begin the seventh month of the current session.

They'll be greeted with at least one sign of final adjournment. That will be the Senate Finance committee's completion of work on the $650,000,000 biennial budget bill.

Final work on the bill was accomplished in the early morning hours of last Friday after most of the legislators had gone home for the weekend holiday.

The Senate may not vote on the measure before the latter part of next week however. It might take all of this week and perhaps longer for Finance Director H. D. Defenbacher to get the bill in shape for presentation. It will have to be reprinted before action can be taken.

The Senate Finance committee hopes to get the two-month temporary budget ready for Senate action by Wednesday, according to committee chairman Clingan Jackson (D)-Mahoning. The House also is expected to make quick work of it in order to furnish the state with spending money until the general budget is passed.

The state has been without spending money since last Thursday midnight when the six-month budget enacted early in the session terminated.

The House had on its calendar for today's session a bill sponsored by Miss Ann Ryan (D Stark), to create a commission to study reorganization of school districts, particularly those in the rural areas. The commission would be composed of three representatives, three senators and three outsiders appointed by the governor.

The Senate also had a calendar of mediocre measures on its program for today. Among them was a constitutional amendment authorizing the legislature to create additional probate judges.

Each county now is limited to one probate judge and in some of the larger metropolitan counties, especially Cuyahoga, one judge cannot handle all the work coming before him. The House already has approved the amendment.

The House is scheduled to consider a bill authorizing five or more war veterans to form nonprofit corporations to construct homes for sale to themselves. The corporation would be authorized to borrow money and to mortgage the property in carrying out the building operations.

CLEVELAND —(AP)— An Akron school teacher, John M. Emde, was elected commander of the Ohio Veterans of Foreign Wars Sunday.

Dysentery Strikes More Children Each Summer

COLUMBUS — (INS) — Some of the most potent killers in Ohio concentrate their fire on babies.

They're the 15 or so different organisms which cause what we call diarrhea and dysentary.

In 1947, 254 Ohioans died of some form of food poisoning or dysentery — a disease which most people shurg off with a comment such as "tough luck." And 182 of these deaths were in children under the age of two.

Last year was even worse. Four - hundred sixty - five died then and 396 of these were babies under two. The deaths were spread generally over the state and Dr Charles R Freeble jr., of the State Health department says the same thing was true in years gone by and is likely to be true for years to come. Freeble is head of the communicable diseases section in the department.

He says 240 cases already have been reported this year, "and we're just coming into the season when we expect things to really begin to pop." Most of these cases are from Cincinnati, a southern city as far as the rest of the state goes, where they have a good hospital which alertly reports such things.

Freeble says public health workers consider all the 17 or so different varieties of food poisoning, diarrhea and dysentery as one problem, even though they are caused by different organisms. This is because the symptoms, course and treatment of all the ailments are all pretty similar, and they all are spread by contaminated food, milk or water.

Freeble says these ailments which cause only a limited amount of pain and inconvenience in adults "are far more widespread in the population and cause much more sickness and death than either typhoid or polio."

He says:

"The lower you go in age brackets, the higher you go in the death rate."

"It's the fact that these diseases appear to be so minor," Freeble says, "that makes them so hard to fight. People with typhoid are sick enough to be in a hospital or under a doctor's care. And you can locate carriers.

"But with these doggone diseases, you're sicker'n' a dog for 24 hours; you start to get better, you don't report it; there's no isolation; no follow - up, no control at all. And if you happen to be a food handler, you must go out and slug somebody else with it."

Palestine Faces Fight Over Bible

Religious Battle Now Shaping Up

TEL AVIV — (UP) — One of the most controversial problems which the Israeli Knesset (Parliament) will be called upon to decide shortly is what to do with Judaism.

Russophile Mapam, the second strongest party, has often indicated that it will demand freedom to disbelieve.

The Orthodox groups, on the other hand, say that Israel's constitution should be the Bible. They reason that if a man-made bill of rights were to conform to the Bible it would be superfluous If it were to be at variance with the Book, it would be sacrilege

The religious-minded concede that Israelis should be free to practice or disregard religion according to their conscience. But they insist that the state as such should be bound by Judaism.

In terms of everyday life, the Orthodox want the State to observe Sabbath and dietary law and grant rabbinical courts exclusive jurisdiction in family matters such as marriage and divorce.

Article 15 of the draft constitution written by Dr. Leon Kohn, political adviser to the foreign office, guarantees "freedom of conscience and the free exercise of all forms of worship only to the maintenance of public order and morals." This clause will come up for discussion before the Knesset this summer with the entire draft constitution.

Premier David Ben Gurion's government has agreed to accept, at least for the time being, the policy that while the state will not enforce compliance with Judaism, it will nevertheless itself avoid violation of religious law in any of its organs.

Thus all government offices and services close down at sunset on Friday and open again with the appearances of the first star on Saturday. Ports, airdromes and railways are at a standstill for 24 hours every week, virtually paralysing the commerical life of the community.

Ben Gurion's Mapai or moderate Laborites might have made concessions to Marxist Mapam in advocating certain religious reforms if it had not been for an understanding between the premier's party and the religious groups On that understanding the coalition government based its program.

The prime minister is quoted as having said privately that he favored certain religious reforms but that the time was not ripe for them. Ben Gurion told the Knesset recently that these reforms would "cause a grave breach in the House of Israel."

Baboons Run Into Snakish Problem

NEW MARKET, Va. — (UP) — A pair of African baboons were living peacefully on a farm near here without any complications until they became parents of a baby baboon.

Now, attendants, say, the baboons have become highly nervous and may have to leave the farm.

The farm is the Childress rattlesnake farm, which has one of the largest collections of rare and poisonous snakes in the country, including king cobras.

The adult baboons, the attendants said, are afraid their youngster will play with the snakes.

Navy Uses Music To Find Ideal Detector Operators

CHICAGO — (UP) — The Navy is experimenting with a musical - note test which it hopes will prove to be a quick, easy method to discover men with extra-acute hearing.

Such men are needed to operate sound detecting and ranging gear used in anti - submarine warfare.

The present time - consuming method of testing hearing ability in the Navy is the measurement of the distance a person can hear a whispered number of phrases.

This test is generally satisfactory but not detailed or selective enough to meet special needs.

The new method is more accurate, standardized and can test as many as 300 men at one time.

It consists of a pulsating pure sound which gradually decreases in intensity. Single, double, or triple pulsations alternate as the intensity decreases.

The subject records the changes as long as he can hear them. The last number recorded determines his hearing ability at that frequency.

Five different frequencies are used, the highest being an octave above the range of speech. Incidental sounds also are used with the musical notes to check the subject's ability to distinguish the testing note from undifferentiated background noises.

The experiment is headed by John C. Webster, research psychologist attached to the naval electronics laboratory, San Diego, Cal. He said the mass-testing method, if it works out satisfactorily, may be used to check school children for defective hearing.

COSMIC INVADER — A research scientist at Massachusetts Institute of Technology near Boston heads for the roof of a laboratory with some helium-filled balloons. They are sent aloft as high as 100,000 feet—almost 19 miles—to seek secrets of the cosmic regions. The scientists believe that the harnessing of cosmic ray energy would place in the hands of man a force a thousand times more potent than atomic energy.

Flaming Plane Kills 2 Airmen

WILLOW GROVE, Pa.—(AP)— Two men were killed in the fiery crash of a navy airplane at the Willow Grove air station late Sunday.

Motorists who saw the crash said the plane crashed through a fence, skidded across a road and caught fire in a ditch. The plane was taking off from the naval air station.

The blazing plane blocked the highway bordering the airfield. Identity of the victims was not learned

In England during the Middle Ages, all men between 16 and 60 years old were required by law to practice archery.

Bares Cost Of Cancer

CLEVELAND — (UP) — The incidence of cancer among children and the cost of the dread killer to the American home were described here by Dr. B. Aubrey Schneider at a two-day institute sponsored by the American Cancer Society.

Dr. Schneider, assistant director of the society's statistical research section, said more than 60,000 children under 18 annually lose one parent, with a slightly higher percentage of fathers dying from cancer than mothers.

Of these 60,000 children, 500 lose a second parent every year and are thereby orphaned.

Summarizing this tragic picture, the doctor estimated that at least 475,000 children under 18 have lost at least one parent to cancer.

Cancer does not pass the children themselves by either, Schneider pointed out. "Cancer is the third leading cause of death among children in the one to 15-years age bracket; in 1946 alone 2,469 children in this bracket died of either cancer or leukemia," Schneider said.

Face Trial In Kentucky Vote Fraud

2 Attorneys To Go Before Jurors

LEXINGTON, Ky. — (UP) — Selection of a jury was the first problem here today as the trial of two prominent young Kentucky lawyers on charges of vote frauds in Bourbon county began in federal court.

Edward F. Prichard jr., one-time "bright young man," of the New Deal and assistant to three men who are now justices of the supreme court of the United States, and A. E. Funk jr., Lexington city attorney, were the defendants.

A federal grand jury, in an indictment returned last May, charged specifically that, "on or about Oct. 20, 1948, and continuously and until and including Nov. 6, 1948, at Lexington and Paris, and other places," two law partners "unlawfully, willfully, knowingly and feloniously conspired among themselves and with each other and with others whose names are to the grand jury unknown, to injure and oppress citizens of the United States . . . ," by forging ballots in the Nov. 2 elections in Bourbon county.

A panel of 60 prospective jurors has been drawn. Since the defense has a total of 10 unlimited challenges and the prosecution has six, it appeared selection of the jury might be a long drawn-out affair.

Court Clerk Arthur B. Rouse says 120 witnesses to be subpoenaed, about 80 of them by the government prosecutor, Claude Stephens. Among them was almost certain to be Cassius M. Clay of Paris, who headed a citizens' committee that forced the investigation which led to the indictments.

Also likely to be called as witnesses was a battery of handwriting experts, for the case appeared likely to hang on the validity of signatures, alleged to be Prichard's, on the fraudulent ballots.

A total of 254 fraudulent ballots, placed in the ballot boxes before the polls were opened, was found in Bourbon county polling places.

The Federal Judge H. Church Ford, this was his second major vote fraud trial. In 1942, with Stephens prosecuting, he sat in a case in which 99 persons were charged with fraud in Harlan county. The case dragged on for three years, with 50 persons eventually drawing prison terms and 21 being placed on probation.

Prichard, who graduated with honors from both Harvard and Princeton, was a protege of Justice Felix Frankfurter. He once served as an assistant to Fred M. Vinson, now chief justice of the Supreme court, and to Justice William O. Douglas. The possibility that any or all of these prominent men might be called as character witnesses gave added flavor to the trial.

Teachers Rap 'Gag'

BOSTON —(AP)— Teachers say Americans must now face squarely the question of what school teachers can "dare" to talk about.

The teachers say that in a report given Sunday to 3,000 delegates of the 825,000-member National Education association, opening its week-long 87th annual convention.

Top on the discussion list is the matter of teachers oaths of loyalty and recent moves in some American cities against alleged "subversive" activities of school employes.

To prepare for general discussion of the issue later this week the NEA'S committee on tenure and academic freedom prepared a research report under the direction of Martin W. Essex, superintendent of schools in Lakewood, O.

Essex said that it is now generally recognized that teachers should be allowed to present "the relative merits of various social ideologies."

And he adds:

"But does any teacher dare to discuss these current controversial issues when he may be branded as disloyal and dismissed from his position? This question must be faced by the public as well as by the teaching profession."

Death of Recluse Starts Search For Hidden Fortune

PHILADELPHIA — (AP) — Authorities today awaited a court order permitting an intensified search of a home where they said a woman recluse lived like a beggar despite the fortune at her command.

A preliminary survey of the cluttered building showed the woman was worth at least $200,000, but she chose to live on a semi-starvation diet of bread and milk.

The woman, Mrs. Catherine S. Ritter, 79, was found dead Sunday on her trash-blanketed bed. The house was crammed with rubbish and litter.

Police said they suspected that somewhere in the maze would be found a clue to the whereabouts of possibly $100,000 Mrs. Ritter is believed to have hidden away.

Police said rents collected from tenants of some 14 houses she owned were brought to her regularly. Neighbors told the investigators they knew virtually nothing of the woman except she used a tiny vestibule as an "office" from which she conducted her outside contracts.

The investigation of Mrs Ritter's death was started by neighbors who complained of "odors" emitting from the house.

New Angle In Murder Probe

PRESTONSBURG, KY. — (UP) — Floyd county Sheriff Troy Sturgill said he was working on a new clue today in the slaying of Murle Baldridge, 16, popular high school girl who was beaten to death near her home here last week.

But Sturgill wouldn't indicate the nature of the clue, saying, "too many of our clues have been made public already."

The sheriff said he was satisfied that the killer, whoever he may be, is still in the Prestonsburg area. He believes the killing was "purely local," and doesn't think the guilty person has left this vicinity.

Surgery Aids Stricken Girl

COLUMBUS — (UP) — Eight-year-old Betty Conley read comic books and dreamed of going to school like other children at Carey, O, today as she awaited a second operation in a hospital here which will enable her to be a regular kid.

The winsome lass was on the short end of a one to 50,000 condition when she was born. Her bladder was on the outside of her body.

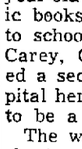

Doctors last week transplanted the two kidney tubes to the bowel and when the brown - eyed girl is strong enough they will completely remove the bladder.

Police Probe Shots Fired Into Home

WARREN —(INS)— Police today investigated the mysterious firing of four bullets into the bungalow home of Mr. and Mrs. William Drake of Niles.

Police said the couple were sleeping at the time of the shooting yesterday and no one was injured. They added that about 15 minutes earlier, three shots were fired from a speeding car into the Drake Refrigeration Services company.

Raps Bill On Housing

McGregor Tells Why He Opposes Measure

Calling for a halt in "unnecessary federal spending", Rep. J. Harry McGregor of the 17th district said today the "defeat of the Federal Housing Bill can be the first step towards our return to good, sound government."

In a letter to Sen. Rayburn, speaker of the House, McGregor stated he was going to vote against the bill He said he had listened to debate both pro and con on the measure and gave his reasons for his vote.

"This bill," McGregor pointed out, "will commit the government to the spending of approximately $20,000,000,000 of taxpayers' money and, in addition, takes from the tax duplicate of local communities the area in which these projects are located. It will benefit less than four per cent of the families of the country."

McGregor said the bill would amount to approximately $546 in increased taxes for every family in the 17th district.

"All of us know that the cost of the construction of these houses, which will be under federal control, will be exorbitant. The bill specifically states that the cost can reach $2,500 a room which means that a five room house would cost $12,500, not including land an other facilities. Certainly this can not be considered, as some of the proponents claim, low cost housing."

Adding that federal control of the homes "certainly means a further step down the road to socialism", McGregor said he believed individual and private capital can build the houses that are necessary.

On the other hand, he stated that "if the federal government goes into the house business of constructing homes, those who want to repair their existing homes or build new ones will find that the materials are not available and we will continue to have a shortage of building materials.

"We have a deficit of 252 billion dollars and our taxes represent 35 per cent of our income. Everyone readily admits that Socialism prevails when taxes have passed the 35 per cent mark of people's income and certainly we do not want to come any nearer to complete collapse into Socialism," McGregor concluded.

New Record For Holiday Fatalities

EXTREME HEAT probably accounted for drownings running a close second to traffic accidents in piling up the greatest Fourth of July death toll in history—with near approach to the 700 mark for the three-day holiday period.

Although the Mansfield area was fortunate in escaping fatalities, Ohio shared to the extent of 26, or more, in the record of accidental deaths, with traffic claiming 12 victims, drownings 12, and two from other causes.

Fireworks, which for many years headed the list in number of deaths from Fourth of July accidents, this year held a clean record insofar as fatalities were concerned, although some injuries were reported from states where use of explosives is still permitted.

Estimate by the National Safety Council, in advance of the holiday period, was that traffic mishaps would account for 290 fatalities, which is shown to be quite ccurate and which provides evidence that the outcome of such a dangerous week-end can be predicted on the basis of past experience—it is only the names of the victims that remain unknown until the gruesome check-up has been made afterward.

An Appreciation of Dr. Peppard

ALMOST a half century has passed since a young doctor came to Mansfield to start the practice of his profession, and now this long career of competent and devoted service has been ended by the death of Dr. David W. Peppard, at the age of 72.

It is impossible to estimate the value of the service to his community of such a person as Dr. Peppard, who was not only a physician and surgeon for those who called upon him in time of need, but was also a family counsellor in matters pertaining to health and well-being.

Many who have now reached middle age know that it was Dr. Peppard who was the first to greet them as they came into the world, and they will also realize the confidence they reposed in him as their family physician during the years that followed—sometimes calling upon him for attention as their own children arrived.

One of the fine traits of Dr. Peppard, in his association with patients, was his kindliness and cheerful manner, traits which were evidenced throughout his entire career, and which carried through to his home life as well as social and fraternal associations.

Much of Dr. Peppard's interest in later years, as an injury necessitated less activity, centered in his family—a devoted wife and their four children, and it was his thought that he would soon retire from practice, after which he and Mrs. Peppard would go to the West Coast to be near their children and grandchildren.

But that was not to be. Death intervened unexpectedly—as it so often does in human affairs—and many are saddened to learn that the ranks of Mansfield's older physicians have again been reduced by the passing of Dr. Peppard, who so finely exemplified the highest ideals of that profession.

The People's Market Place

A RECENT convention of the Association of Classified Advertising Managers in Toledo has been the occasion in many newspapers across the country for according deserved recognition to the "want ad" department of the American press.

The classified ad columns of the family newspaper have become fully as familiar to all ages of readers as the "funny" page, the sports page, women's section or even the front page and the page that this is printed upon.

Primarily, the classified pages serve as a market place for the interchange of goods. Persons with things to sell may easily, inexpensively market their wares there, and persons with needs to fill can "shop" the byways through a single trip to the classified counter or one call on the telephone.

The wide use made of these columns is best emphasized by the fact that the "merchandise" listed there ranges all the way from country estates to used bicycles or baby carriages and from the listing of special services to the posting of descriptions of lost, found or strayed valuables and pets.

In providing this low-cost, easy means of commercial communication, the classified sections of the newspaper perform an important public function. Among the many factors contributing to the world's most precious possession—our familiar "American way of life"—the "want ad" pages should not be forgotten.

Reason For Minimum Wages

ACCORDING to Washington reports, Congress is looking at much proposed new legislation with a wary and critical eye. This is largely the result of the decline in business activity and national income, coupled with the attendant rise in unemployment. Most of the lawmakers seem more eager than in the past to refrain from passing measures which might further rock the economic boat.

One suggested law, which falls clearly into this category, would nearly double the present minimum wage, would eliminate certain exceptions to the law which have been in effect for years, and would place other restrictions on both employer and employe.

Superficially, the measure would seem to improve the lot of the lowest-paid workers. Actually, there is good reason for believing that it would do just the opposite.

For the most part, the minimum wage directly affects only the unskilled, the marginal worker, the beginner, and the part-time worker. The value of these workers to the employer is very limited. If the law required him to pay them more than their productive worth, he would necessarily employ as few of them as possible.

For Tourists Who 'Get Lost'

FOR EVERY tourist who ever became lost in Washington, D. C., it must have been refreshing to read the other day that Senator Claude Pepper of Florida, who has been there thirteen years, lost his way in the Capitol.

The tourist who finds himself suddenly going the wrong way on a one-way street in some strange city can take fresh heart. Maybe he didn't remember wrongly the directions he obtained from the native citizen on the corner. Maybe the native citizen didn't know the way, either. That thought won't help find the way, but it's something to tell the back-seat drivers.

That's a Real Good Question.

Viewing the National Scene

Shift By Jimmy Byrnes

By THOMAS L. STOKES

WASHINGTON—When a one-time prominent political party leader suddenly takes up the cudgels against the policy of his own party and its President he immediately becomes a useful exhibit for that party's opponents or even for dissidents within his own party. He finds himself a lion again, though in a different cage.

It may be an innocent gesture born of sincerity and conviction. Or it may not be so guileless. If he was a former associate and confidant of the President—why, so much the better symbol, he is for the President's enemies.

Franklin D. Roosevelt went through such experiences at the hand of former associates.

Harry Truman is now undergoing one in the frontal assault on his policies recently by James F. Byrnes of South Carolina, who formerly was President Truman's No. 1 cabinet officer as secretary of state and before that quite a figure in the Truman and preceding Roosevelt regimes as a top wartime adviser, as Supreme Court justice, as senator.

"We are," said Mr. Byrnes, "going down the road to statism."

For that he has become a hero in some quarters. His words and phrases were galled up, for instance, as argument against the administration's housing bill during House debate last week. He is likely henceforth to find himself much quoted in the Congressional Record, as well as a shining illustration in stump speeches about Truman administration "socialism" or "statism" or whatever label one likes best.

* * *

Motives Obscure.

WHAT, if any, political motives lie behind Mr. Byrnes' crusade are not yet revealed. He is a shrewd and smart politician, which naturally makes him suspect, whether justly or not. One surmise is that his purpose may be to try to resuscitate the southern wing of the party, which President Truman encourages very little. He can give it a more respectable voice and front than are offered by the outright Dixiecrats who recently have carried the fight against the President. The Dixiecrats have little standing and less respect in the party at large.

Southerners always have been powerful at national conventions, that is, until the last one, and they would like to recoup for 1952 so they can have something to say about the presidential nominee. Mr. Byrnes would be a very able and skillful agent for such a restorative movement.

By some who are either ignorant of the facts or choose to ignore them, he is held up as "a former New Dealer" to drive home the extent of his conversion. Others more realistic explain that he was never very sympathetic with many New Deal aims, but was a good soldier and operated successfully for President Roosevelt while in the Senate, for which he got his reward in a Supreme Court appointment, and how that he is no longer in a political role can speak his real convictions. The latter is less complimentary, but much nearer the truth as an observer of those days saw it all.

The strange thing about the current Byrnes performance is how what is going on now is any more "statism" than what went on, with his help, during the Roosevelt administration reform era.

Virtually every part of President Truman's "statism" program follows principles of the same or similar measures of the New Deal era, including health insurance.

Some are measures that were left in the hopper from the Roosevelt administration, while others are extensions of previously enacted New Deal measures, such as in the housing, social security, and wage-hour fields. There is little, if anything, really new.

One may perhaps be excused for not taking Jimmy Byrnes too seriously in his latest political enterprise.

Protecting the Innocent

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON — An old problem has arisen again: What to do about clearing innocent people whose names are publicly listed as being in FBI files?

Attorney General Clark has walked carefully in trying to handle it. He did that last week-end in a statement about the FBI records made public at Judith Coplon's trial.

The trial judge several weeks ago had ordered those files thrown open because, directly or indirectly, they were connected with the Coplon case. The files, not the people.

Out tumbled the names of many well-known people, although their being in the files might, or might not, have meant they had done something wrong. It didn't necessarily mean they had.

Information about them, true or false, had been pumped into the files for future reference — if needed. This could happen to you.

Clark could have refused to open the files but that would have meant dropping the Coplon case. He didn't want that. So out came the files. And Miss Coplon was convicted.

But opening the files had brought indignant outbursts from fairminded people who feared innocent persons might have been listed in the files and, because of the exposure, were smeared and damaged.

At the time Clark was asked for comment by newsmen but he kept quiet until the trial and sentencing of Miss Coplon were finished.

* * *

Explanation Given.

THEN in a written statement he explained why he had thought it necessary to open up the secret files with their load of strange information. But—

He did not touch directly on one point: What about the status of some of those people named in the files?

If he had flatly listed some of the people, by name, as innocent, this would have left the public to conclude that those not so singled out were guilty.

The problem must have troubled Clark, for he seems to have tried to handle it obliquely, in this way:

He said "I regret that it became necessary. . .For the reports to be admitted in evidence. I say this for the reason so aptly stated by Justice Jackson."

Then Clark quoted this opinion from Jackson when he was attorney general in 1941 and refused to let a congressional committee see certain FBI reports:

"Disclosure of information contained in the reports might also be the grossest kind of injustice to innocent individuals. Investigative reports include leads and suspicions, and sometimes even the statements of malicious and misinformed people. Evan though later and more complete reports exonerate the individuals, the use of particular or selected reports might constitute the grossest injustice, and we all know that a correction never catches up with an accusation."

Maybe that was Clark's way of saying some of those listed in the FBI reports in the Coplon case were innocent. But he didn't say so flatly.

DID YOU KNOW THAT—

America's bakers are the farmers' best industrial customer. They buy about $870,000,000 worth of farm produce each year.

Barden Defends His Stand On Education

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — The weather was hot outside, but not half as hot as the atmosphere behind the closed doors of the House education and labor committee when Chairman John Lesinski of Michigan, Catholic, and Rep. Graham Barden of North Carolina, Presbyterian, squared off on the issue of federal aid to parochial schools. Both are Democrats.

Barden, whose aid - to - education bill has been under attack by the Catholic hierarchy, angrily assailed Lesinski for calling him a "bigot."

"I don't like this long-range sniping," asserted the North Carolinian as he sat at the committee table within 18 inches of Lesinski. "I like to look a man in the eye when I have something to say about him, rather than give out a statement to the press. You went out of your way to malign not only my integrity, but my character.

"And you did not speak the truth," Barden continued, looking at Lesinski. "I have never felt nor have I ever said or done anything in the 15 years I have been in Congress that was discriminatory against any religion."

Lesinski replied that the press had misquoted his criticism of Barden.

"That," shot back the North Carolinian, "is a most cowardly retreat. You may try to shift the blame to the newspaper reporters, but I don't accept that explanation.

"I'm not much good in a name-calling contest," Braden continued, referring to Cardinal Spellman's blast against him. "It never accomplishes anything and I wish this one had never started. Any person should have the right in free America to conscientiously oppose something, or to be for something, without having his patriotism questioned by those who do not agree with him. God forbid that we should ever lose that right, as have the people of Czechoslovakia."

Just then the bell rang, summoning House members to the floor. With an expression of relief, Chairman Lesinski adjourned the meeting.

Congressional Law Firms.

A CONGRESSMAN'S name on a law firm's letterhead means money in the bank. For it means that a lot of doors can be opened in Washington and fancy fees collected because of his influence. Some legislators make the most of it.

A few, on the other hand, do not. For instance, when gangling, cowlicked Rep. Andrew Jacobs, freshman Democrat from Indiana, got a phone call from a constituent recently soliciting his legal services, the congressman replied:

"When I was elected to Congress, one of the first things I did was to take a razor blade and scratch my name off the door of my Indianapolis office. I have only one client now — the Eleventh congressional district of Indiana."

Gas Companies Win.

THE GAS and oil lobby scored a great victory when millionaire Senator Bob Kerr's bill, exempting from federal rate controls natural gas sold to pipeline companies, was approved by the Senate interstate commerce committee in a closed-door 7-to-5 vote.

This was not done, however, before two senators—Republican Owen Brewster of Maine and Democratic Warren Magnuson of Washington—walked pit, protesting the steamroller tactics of Chairman Ed Johnson of Colorado and Ernest McFarland of Arizona, both Democrats.

Senator "Gentle" Lyndon Johnson of Texas teed off the steamroller methods. Lyndon was elected on a pledge to vote the opposite of Pappy O'Daniel whom he replaced, but he has been slowly veering over to Pappy's point of view.

At the closed - door meeting, Gentle Lyndon made a long speech on behalf of the bill, which opens the door to unlimited price boosts on natural gas retailed to consumers. Immediately thereafter Arizona's McFarland demanded that the committee vote "right now."

"This is outrageous," protested Brewster. "The bill has been revised and we haven't had time to study it."

"We've delayed long enough," persisted McFarland. "Every member has made up his mind how he will vote. Further study won't change the result. So let's get to a vote."

When Chairman Ed Johnson sided with McFarland, Brewster angrily asserted: "Then you can count me out."

"I feel the same way," said Magnuson of Washington. Both senators picked up their papers and stalked out of the room. The surprise move left their colleagues in temporary dismay. However, Ed Johnson, fearful that the row might leak to the press, quickly took command. He decided that the two prodigals be given two more days, after which they would be "polled" and their votes added to the official rollcall.

Brewster and Magnuson, therefore, eventually joined Senators Charles Tobey (R.) of New Hampshire, Francis Myers (D.) of Pennsylvania and Estes Kefauver (D.) of Tennessee in voting "No."

The seven men who voted for the big gas companies were: Johnson of Colorado and Johnson of Texas, McFarland, Brien McMahon (D.) of Connecticut, Clyde Reed (R.) of Kansas, Homer Capehart (R.) of Indiana and John Bricker (R.) of Ohio.

Assignment: America

Made His Own Choice

By INEZ ROBB

NEW YORK — People seem roughly divisible into two categories today: (1) Those going to psychiatrists to be cured of the jerks and twitches implicit in modern civilization and (2) Those going to the beauty parlor for removal of wrinkles caused by the wear and tear of modern life and times.

So I would like to tell you the comforting case histories of two persons over seventy who are happy as larks and whose faces are as smooth, unlined and serene as that of a happy child (and without benefit of plastic surgery).

They are Dr. Albert Schweitzer, the geniuses' genius, and his wife who, 36 years ago, turned their backs on interantional fame and fortune, and went to French equatorial Africa to set up a hospital and medical service for natives whom other men deemed savages.

Before he was out of his teens, Dr. Schweitzer was the world's foremost organist.

His book on the German philosopher Kant made this young Frenchman a by-word among intellectuals when he was only 24. But on his twenty-first birthday, this son of an Alsatian minister made up his mind to give only nine more years to music and philosophy before devoting himself directly to the service of humanity "as man to my fellow men."

Although he had become the world's foremost authority on Goethe and Bach by the time he was thirty, he entered medical school with the determination to become a medical missionary in Africa. In 1913, when he was 38, he sailed for French equatorial Africa, a full fledged physician, to fulfill his vow of devoting the rest of his life to his fellow man.

But in the 17 years between his twenty-first and his thirty-eighth birthday, Dr. Schweitzer accomplished more than most men, even geniuses, do in three life-times.

Among other things, he wrote and edited eight definative volumes on Bach, "Organ Building and Organ Playing" "The Quest of the Histocical Jesus," "Phychiatric Study of Jesus," and began meditating on his magnum opus, "Philosophy of Civilization," now called "Reverence for Life."

* * *

Enjoyed "Doing Good".

THE JUNGLE effectively swallowed up this genius for a new generation grown up since 1913. Save for scholars, he is almost literally the genius nobody knows.

But when savants began planning the impressive Goethe bicentennial at Aspen, Colo., they sought out the doctor in his jungle hospital and asked him, still the foremost living authority on the German poet, to deliver the chief address of the Goethe celebration.

So the other day, I went down the bay on a coast guard cutter to meet the liner Nieuw Amsterdam, on which Dr. Schweitzer at 74 arrived for his first visit to America, enroute to Aspen.

The doctor, merry, vigorous and full of Gallic wit, looked as everyone's French grandfather should look.

A delightful, old-fashioned figure, the doctor was dressed in the style of fifty years ago.

His dark eyes, driven far back in their sockets by the equatorial sun, twinkled at everyone. A scraggly walrus moustache sprouted beneath his big nose, and his unruly iron gray hair fell over his forehead like the petals of a limp chrysanthemum.

Mrs. Schweitzer, her white hair bound about her small head and her face as fresh and unlined as a baby's, sat modestly back and let the spotlight fall on her husband, although she became a nurse to aid him in his work and has been his right hand in the jungle.

Was it worth it personally, I asked the doctor, for a man of his genius to give up life among his intellectual peers in Europe and bury himself among the savages of Africa.

"I have had the pleasure of doing good. That is privilege enough for any man," he answered.

But both the question and answer were really rhetorical.

One has only to look into the faces of Dr. and Mrs. Schweitzer to realize what goodness, happiness and peace men can achieve for themselves even in this troubled world.

As Cerf Tells It

Editor John Woodburn poses this problem: A single railroad track, upon which two trains are approaching each other hopelessly, relentlessly, each maintaining a constant speed of 100 m.p.h. At the throttle of Train A is a drunk. At the trottle of Train B is a Norwegian. All evidence notwithstanding, the trains do not collide. Why? Because Norse is Norse, and Souse is Souse, and never the twains shall meet.

Farmer's Diary

Healthful Recreation

By CALVIN A. BYERS

THE older boys, son and son-in-law, have built a picnic table at the edge of the plum orchard. Here we will often carry our trays for the eveing meal, while the weather stays so hot.

We're a picnicking family. Often, when the children were little, before we moved to Honey Creek, we would travel many miles to picnic beside a clear stream or would gather up our Dutch oven and carry our one-dish meal with us, to reheat over an open fire and enjoy the flavor of wood smoke.

It's our theory that the biggest fun is the fun that you make for yourself. There's an empty oil drum about our yard that becomes the starting point of a balancing act, or a game to see which can travel upon it in quickest time from one end of the yard to the other. Experts can move it along at a brisk trot. The less expert goes less distance, but learn more of balance and poise and judgment.

Fishermen are born, not made, and we have but two. Our ex-sailor son-in-law, who makes something of a science of it — and the second boy, who just likes to loiter beside a stream and make friends with everything alive.

Hiking in the rain is our daughter's favorite sport. A long tramp over hill and dale brings her back with bright eyes, rosy cheeks and colorful ideas. Or perhaps son-in-law and she will go sailing at Mifflin lake in the boat which he built with his father's help, in the happy days before World War II.

Nobody, anywhere, has better sun-tan than we, of the Honey Creek vicinity. Quick and often, our crew dips in Honey Creek and comes out a shade browner. Along in August the tan begins to get spotty, but at this season it is the rich shade of brown toast.

Even Baby Sue, though parked in the shade, in her bassinet, managed to kick off everything and expose her bare middle long enough to get the cutest sun-browned belly around these parts.

Dave Boone Says:

NOBODY will be able to tell me that America doesn't lead the world in jet planes—not after watching the holiday week-end traffic. There must have been 33,000,000 autos on the roads, and I didn't notice any of 'em with their landing gear down.

* * *

It was a harrowing sight. Any week end is a terrible thing to watch on the highways of America but when you've got a Fourth of July thrown in, it's a thriller-diller!

* * *

With Saturday, Sunday and Monday off, it was a five-day week, with powder burns and first-aid kits at no extra charge.

The energy, determination and sweat that Americans put into a few days off the job is one of the wonders of the world.

New Round Fired In B-36 Fight

British Critic Raps Air Force

WASHINGTON — (UP) —British critics have jumped into the battle of the B-36, alleging that U. S. Air Force claims for the superbomber are cloudy if not downright deceitful.

The House Armed Services committee intends to examine those claims in an investigation to begin soon.

In an article now being circulated widely here, a testy author who signs himself "Favonius" suggests that the air force is so far gone on the 10-engine bomber that it lacks "the nerve to pull out."

This is so, he says, in spite of the fact that the B-36 "is at least a doubtful basket for the carriage of an atomic egg" as Favonius is sure Royal Air Force jet fighters could demonstrate.

The British critique appeared first in "Flight and Aircraft Engineer," official organ of the highly respected and influential although unofficial Royal Aero club. Navy sources who challenge the B-36 strategic bombing claims are studying the Favonius article with glee.

The air force claims that the B-36 superbomber can fly 10,000 miles, drop a five-ton bombload about halfway and stay above 40,000 feet for an adequate portion of the mission. It believes interception by enemy fighters at and above 40,000 feet to be extremely difficult although not impossible.

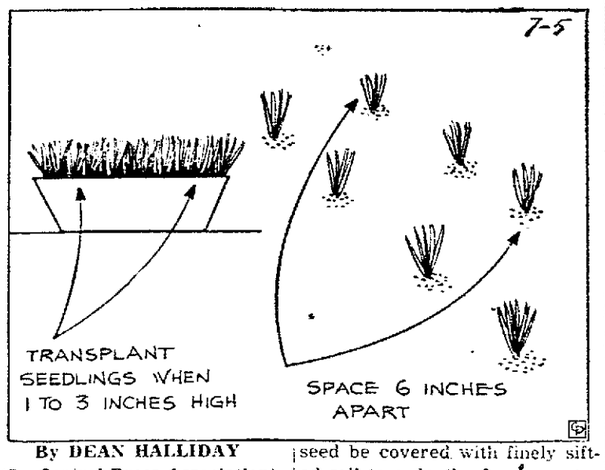

Favonius says that it isn't so. His slide rule convinces him that the B-36 loaded for combat will not go above 39,000 feet at a target 5,000 miles distant from its base. He relies on known engineering data.

Anyway, he says, the air force is mistaken if it thinks jet fighters don't function well above 40,000 feet. He says the British Vampire has a service ceiling of 56,000 feet and "it is hard to believe" Russia lacks similar craft.

"We fancy that our American friends are prone to underrate the height of the iron curtain." Favonius avers. He also regards the expanding B-36 program as "one more reminder to the American taxpayer that the USAF is still riding its favorite hobbyhorse in high pursuit of the public purse."

Today's Garden Graph

Growing Iris From Seeds

By DEAN HALLIDAY
(By Central Press Association)

Growing iris from seed is economical, as well as interesting, especially if the variety to be propagated is scarce.

Iris seed can be obtained from seed houses, nurseries, horticultural specialists, and, of course, from the plantings in your own garden.

If planning to plant iris seed from your own garden, gather the seeds as the pods ripen and begin to open, but just before the seeds are scattered. They can be planted as soon as they have ripened, usually in October. When first gathered, the seeds have a tendency to stick together. It is best, therefore, to remove the seeds from the pods several days before you intend to plant them so that they may dry out and be more easily separated.

Seeds planted this fall will not germinate until next spring. The seeds may be planted in coldframes, flats or in pots. If pots are used, plunge them level with the surface of the soil. This method makes it easy to handle them later on. It is essential that the seed be covered with finely sifted soil to a depth of one-quarter to one-half inch. Sharp sand may also be used.

Early next spring, grasslike spears will begin to break through the soil surface. Some varieties, under certain conditions, are slow in germinating and may not grow until the second year.

As illustrated in the accompanying Garden-Graph, when the seedlings are from one to three inches high they should be transplanted to another seed bed and spaced six or more inches apart.

By August, if the growth has been vigorous, they can be moved to a permanent place in the garden or they can remain in the seed bed until they have bloomed and you know what colors you have.
